Additional Questions and Responses

- Q1. How many firms are currently engaged in providing the services requested in the Request for Proposal?
- Al. Currently there are three firms engaged in providing Ginnie Mae legal services. When the contract originally was awarded there were four firms, but one is no longer engaged.
- Q2. How many firms could be expected to be chosen, and if more than one, will they be assigned by or to geographic areas?
- A2. Multiple awards are anticipated, but the exact number has not yet been determined. Assignment is not made by or to geographical areas.
- Q3. Is it necessary or desirable for any of the firms chosen to have a Washington, DC office? If more than one, is it necessary or desirable for all of the firms to have a Washington, DC office?
- A3. A Washington, DC office is not required. However, Ginnie Mae does not pay travel expenses for meetings at HUD. Therefore, offerors that are not located in Washington, DC must pay their own travel expenses for meetings at HUD.
- Q4. Will financial information being supplied in response to the proposal become public information? If so, is there another acceptable method for evidencing financial responsibility?
- A4. Only the bid prices for successful offerors will become public knowledge. Please see Amendment A01 for changes to the solicitation regarding financial information to be supplied.
